HELLO AND WELCOME!

My name is Anthony DeLorenzo, I am a blogger, designer, and nerd: clicking the intro and looking around this web page can tell you that much. I write about what is near and present to me here in sunny Florida, or when suburbia doesn't bring me inspiration I ramble on about student affairs, cartoons, and a harrowing tale of how I once vicious serpent- and conquered.

More importantly, this site will eventually be the reposito design and development work, along with my writing. I prefe design- this site and my blogs can show you that, and my eventually. For the moment it will be barren, but there are a f hidden around (for example, if you don't enjoy the blue back welcome to change it with the squares in the top left). Take a link or two.

Anthony DeLorenzo.com

AnthonyDeLorenzo.com is my personal site which was made to demonstrate a few aspects of my expertise.

It is the repository of my portfolio, a section about me, and contains links to my numerous blogs.

Outside of developing, I am an avid writer. I write about my daily introspections, my thoughts on sci-fy/fantasy, and cooking.

Features:

- fully custom Javascript/jQuery
- prodigious use of HTML5/CSS3
- custom implementation of several jQuery plugins.
- fully functional HTML5 web app
- custom PHP contact form with error checking
